✓ Know all Men by these Presents, that I, Jeremiah Clark of Lowell, Massachusetts, in consideration of one dollar to me paid by the Proprietors of the Lowell Cemetery, a corporation duly established by law and located at Lowell in said Commonwealth, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, do hereby give, grant, bargain, deed and convey to the said Corporation, two lots of land in the Cemetery belonging to said Corporation in said Lowell on the way called "Wilberforce Avenue" and numbered seven hundred and forty-two (742), and seven hundred and forty-three (743) on the plan of said Cemetery drawn by George P. Worcester, which plan is in the possession of the said grantor and the space formerly used as a path between them, three feet in width, which space is now included with said lots, the whole making one lot for burial purposes and containing six hundred and sixty (660) square feet.

Lot No. 743 was conveyed to me by deed dated June 8, 1867, and recorded in Cemetery Record Book No. 1, page 185, and Lot No. 742 I inherited from my father, Ebenezer Clark

To have and to hold the said premises to the said Corporation and its successors and assigns forever, subject to the limitations, restrictions and conditions and with all the privileges to them belonging set forth in the deeds of said premises from said Corporation to the original grantors of said lots and subject to the statutes of the Commonwealth, but in perpetual trust nevertheless, and for the following uses and purposes:

First: The remains of those now buried there, to wit:

Ebenezer Clark	Maria J. Clark
Sarah Clark	Sarah A. Clark
Sawyer B. Clark	Josiah Clark
Joseph A. Hodge	Sarah A. Hodge
Susan B. Hodge	Two children of J. A. and S. B. Hodge shall always remain undisturbed where they lie.

Second: The said Corporation shall permit the following persons now living to be buried therein at their decease:

Jeremiah Clark	Joseph W. Hodge
Mrs. Jeremiah Clark	Susan L. F. Hodge
Miss Julia Chamberlin	Albert S. Hodge
Miss Mary M. Chamberlin	Mrs. Albert S. Hodge
One child of said A. S. Hodge and one person more

Third: The said Corporation shall also permit any other persons now living to be buried therein at their decease, whose names shall be given in writing by the grantor during his lifetime to the Superintendent of said Cemetery, due regard being had to the capacity of said lot and the decent and convenient interment thereof of the remains of those last above mentioned

Fourth. The said Corporation shall never allow or permit any other name, letters or marks to be placed on the monument now on said lot than the name "Clark" now on said monument.

Fifth: The said Corporation shall apply the income only of the six hundred dollars paid to them for the perpetual care of this lot (comprising 742 and 743), in caring for the said lot, monument and stones, and as it will not require all of the annual income for the ordinary care it is intended to have some accumulation of said income for renewing soil and rods when needed and for any emergency such as accident to any of the stones, for renewal, repairing and cleaning the stones when necessary.

Sixth: The said Corporation shall never allow any other bodies, than those above named and those above provided for, to be interred in said lot and shall not allow any other use to be made of said lot, and shall never suffer any remains interred in said lot as aforesaid to be removed from said lot unless required by law so to do; and shall never sell or alienate said lot or any part thereof for any purpose inconsistent with the full and effectual fulfillment of the trusts herein contained, and shall permit me, at all reasonable times, subject to all lawful rules, regulations and by-laws of said Corporation now made or hereafter to be made, to enter upon said lot, and the same at pleasure to inspect and generally to do any act or thing in reference to said lot and the monument and other erections, trees, shrubbery and flowers, on said lot not inconsistent with the rights hereby or otherwise vested in said Corporation, and which shall not increase the liability of said Corporation, nor interfere with or obstruct the said Corporation in the performance of the agreements and trusts herein contained.

The first part of the history of the United States is the history of the colonies. The colonies were founded by Englishmen who had come to America in search of a better life. They were at first dependent on England for everything they needed, but as they grew in number and power, they began to assert their independence. They fought the Revolutionary War and won their freedom from England. The second part of the history of the United States is the history of the Union. The Union was formed by the joining of the thirteen original states. It has since grown to include all the states of the continent. The third part of the history of the United States is the history of the people. The people have made many great contributions to the world, and they have fought many great battles for their freedom and their rights. The fourth part of the history of the United States is the history of the future. The future of the United States is bright and full of promise. We are sure that the United States will continue to be a great and powerful nation for many years to come.

THE HISTORY OF THE CITY OF BOSTON

From its first settlement in 1630 to the present time, the city of Boston has been the seat of a government of the people, and the cradle of the American Republic. It has been the birthplace of many of our greatest statesmen, and the scene of many of our most important events. Its history is a record of the struggle for liberty and independence, and of the growth of a free and democratic government.

The city of Boston was founded in 1630, by a group of Puritan settlers who came from England in search of a place where they could practice their religion in freedom. They established a colony on the eastern shore of Massachusetts Bay, and named it Boston, in honor of the town of Boston in Lincolnshire, England.

In 1634, the colony was incorporated as the Town of Boston, and in 1688, it was incorporated as the City of Boston. Since that time, it has grown from a small fishing village to one of the largest and most important cities in the United States.

Boston has been the seat of a government of the people since its first settlement. In 1630, the settlers elected a town meeting, which was the first form of self-government in the city. This meeting was responsible for the local affairs of the colony, and it was the first step toward the establishment of a democratic government.

In 1688, the city was incorporated as the City of Boston, and it was given the right to elect its own officers. This was a further step toward the establishment of a democratic government, and it was a sign of the growing importance of the city in the colony.

Boston has been the scene of many of our most important events. It was here that the first battle of the American Revolution was fought, and it was here that the Declaration of Independence was signed. It was also here that the first public school was established, and the first public library was founded.

Boston has been the birthplace of many of our greatest statesmen, and the scene of many of our most important events. Its history is a record of the struggle for liberty and independence, and of the growth of a free and democratic government.

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and the establishment of colonies. The American Revolution led to the birth of a new nation, and the subsequent years saw the expansion of territory and the growth of industry. The Civil War was a pivotal moment in the nation's history, leading to the abolition of slavery and the strengthening of the federal government. The late 19th and early 20th centuries were characterized by rapid industrialization and the rise of the United States as a world power. The mid-20th century saw the nation's involvement in two world wars, followed by a period of social and political change. The late 20th and early 21st centuries have been marked by technological advancements, globalization, and ongoing challenges. The history of the United States is a testament to the resilience and adaptability of the American people.

The late 19th and early 20th centuries were characterized by rapid industrialization and the rise of urban centers. The Great Depression of the 1930s was a period of economic hardship, followed by the challenges of World War II. The mid-20th century saw the rise of the civil rights movement and the space race. The first part of the history of the United States is the history of the colonies. The colonies were founded by Englishmen who sought freedom of religion and self-government. They were at first dependent on England for protection and supplies, but as they grew in number and power, they began to assert their independence. The struggle for independence culminated in the American Revolution, which resulted in the United States becoming a free and sovereign nation.

The American Revolution was a war fought between the thirteen original colonies and Great Britain. The colonies fought for their right to self-government and to be free from British rule. The war began in 1775 and ended in 1783 with the signing of the Treaty of Paris. The United States was born as a free and independent nation.

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. It begins with the first settlers, who came to the New World in search of a better life. They found a land of opportunity, but also a land of challenge. The early years were marked by struggle and hardship, but the spirit of the pioneers was unyielding. They built a nation from scratch, one that was based on the principles of liberty and justice for all. Over the years, the United States has grown from a small colony to a great power. It has faced many challenges, but it has always emerged stronger and more united. The story of the United States is a story of hope and achievement, a story that continues to inspire and guide us today.

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and the establishment of colonies. The American Revolution led to the birth of a new nation, and the subsequent years saw the expansion of territory and the growth of industry. The Civil War was a pivotal moment in the nation's history, leading to the abolition of slavery and the strengthening of the federal government. The late 19th and early 20th centuries were characterized by rapid industrialization and the rise of the United States as a world power. The mid-20th century saw the nation's involvement in two world wars, and the latter half of the century was marked by the civil rights movement and the Vietnam War. The present day is a time of continued growth and change, with the United States facing new challenges and opportunities.

PROPRIETORS OF THE LOWELL CEMETERY,
by Treasurer.

The first part of the history of the United States of America is the history of the colonies. The colonies were founded by Englishmen who had come to America in search of a better life. They were at first dependent on England for everything they needed, but as they grew in number and power, they began to assert their independence. They fought the Revolutionary War and won their independence from England in 1776. The second part of the history of the United States is the history of the Union. The Union was formed by the joining of the thirteen original states. It has since grown to include all the states of the United States. The third part of the history of the United States is the history of the people. The people of the United States have made many great contributions to the world. They have discovered new lands, invented new machines, and created new forms of art and literature. They have also fought many wars and made many sacrifices for the freedom and independence of their country.

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

The history of the United States of America is a long and interesting one. It is a story of the struggles and triumphs of a young nation. It is a story of the people who have made the United States what it is today. It is a story of the great achievements of the American people and the great sacrifices they have made for their country. The history of the United States is a story that is still being written. It is a story that is full of hope and promise for the future.

January 1st 1864

Dear Mother

I received your letter of the 24th and was glad to hear from you. I am well and hope these few lines will find you the same.
I have not much news to write at present.
The weather here is very cold and the ground is covered with snow. I have not been out much lately. I am writing you this in the evening. I have not much time to write. I must close for this time. I will write again soon. I love you all very much. I am your affectionate son.

John

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and the establishment of colonies. The American Revolution led to the birth of a new nation, and the subsequent years saw the expansion of territory and the growth of industry. The Civil War was a pivotal moment in the nation's history, leading to the abolition of slavery and the strengthening of the federal government. The late 19th and early 20th centuries were characterized by rapid industrialization and the rise of urban centers. The Great Depression of the 1930s was a period of economic hardship, followed by the challenges of World War II. The mid-20th century saw the rise of the civil rights movement and the space race. The late 20th and early 21st centuries have been marked by technological advancements, globalization, and the challenges of the 21st century.

The first discovery of America was made by Christopher Columbus in 1492. He sailed from Spain and reached the island of San Salvador in the West Indies. This was the first of many voyages that he made to the New World. Columbus's discovery opened up a new era of exploration and trade between Europe and the Americas. The United States was founded on the principles of liberty and justice for all, and its history is a testament to the courage and vision of its people.

CHAPTER II

The Founding Fathers, including George Washington, John Adams, and Benjamin Franklin, created a new nation based on the principles of democracy and freedom. The Constitution established the framework for the government and the rights of the citizens. The United States has since grown into a powerful nation, with a rich history and a bright future.

CHAPTER III
THE GROWTH OF THE UNITED STATES

The Civil War was another major event, which led to the abolition of slavery and the strengthening of the Union. The United States has since become a global superpower, with a significant impact on the world.

CHAPTER IV
THE PRESENT AND FUTURE OF THE UNITED STATES
The United States is a nation of many peoples, many languages, and many cultures. It is a nation of opportunity and hope. The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and settlement, followed by a period of rapid expansion and growth. The American Revolution was a pivotal moment in the nation's history, leading to the establishment of a new government and the declaration of independence. The years following the Revolution were characterized by a period of relative stability and growth, but the nation was not without its challenges. The War of 1812, for example, was a significant event that tested the nation's resolve and led to a renewed sense of national identity. The mid-19th century was a time of great change and upheaval, with the Civil War being the most significant event of the period. The war was a result of deep-seated divisions over the issue of slavery, and it led to the abolition of slavery and the establishment of a new government. The years following the Civil War were marked by a period of reconstruction and growth, but the nation was still facing many challenges. The late 19th and early 20th centuries were a time of rapid industrialization and growth, but the nation was also facing a period of social and economic upheaval. The Progressive Era was a time of reform and change, leading to the establishment of a new government and the declaration of independence. The years following the Progressive Era were marked by a period of relative stability and growth, but the nation was not without its challenges. The Great Depression was a significant event that tested the nation's resolve and led to a renewed sense of national identity. The years following the Great Depression were marked by a period of rapid growth and change, leading to the establishment of a new government and the declaration of independence. The present day is a time of great change and upheaval, with the nation facing many challenges. The future of the United States is uncertain, but the history of the nation is a story of growth and change.

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and the establishment of colonies. The American Revolution led to the birth of a new nation, and the subsequent years saw the expansion of territory and the growth of industry. The Civil War was a pivotal moment in the nation's history, leading to the abolition of slavery and the strengthening of the federal government. The 20th century brought significant changes, including the rise of the United States as a world power and the challenges of the Cold War. Today, the United States continues to shape the world and its future.

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and the establishment of colonies. The American Revolution led to the birth of a new nation, and the subsequent years saw the expansion of territory and the growth of industry. The Civil War was a pivotal moment in the nation's history, leading to the abolition of slavery and the strengthening of the federal government. The late 19th and early 20th centuries were characterized by rapid industrialization and the rise of urban centers. The Great Depression of the 1930s was a period of economic hardship, followed by the challenges of World War II. The mid-20th century saw the rise of the civil rights movement and the space race. The late 20th and early 21st centuries have been marked by technological advancements, globalization, and the challenges of the 21st century.

THE HISTORY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON

From its first settlement in 1630 to the present time the city has grown from a small fishing village to one of the largest and most important in the world. The history of the city is a record of the growth of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and of the progress of the human mind. It is a story of struggle and triumph, of adversity and success. It is a story of the founding of a new nation, of the establishment of a new government, of the development of a new society. It is a story of the growth of a great city, of the expansion of a great empire. It is a story of the progress of the human race.

CHAPTER I

THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA

THE first discovery of America was made by Christopher Columbus in 1492. He was an Italian explorer who sailed for Spain. He discovered the New World, which was then called America.

After his discovery, Columbus made several more voyages to the Americas. He explored the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico. He also discovered the Florida peninsula.

Columbus's discovery of America led to the European colonization of the Americas. Many European countries sent explorers to the New World to claim land and resources. This led to the establishment of colonies and the eventual independence of many countries in North and South America.

The discovery of America was a major event in world history. It opened up new opportunities for exploration, trade, and settlement. It also led to the development of a global economy and the eventual unification of the world.

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and the establishment of colonies. The American Revolution led to the birth of a new nation, and the subsequent years saw the expansion of territory and the growth of industry. The Civil War was a pivotal moment in the nation's history, leading to the abolition of slavery and the strengthening of the federal government. The late 19th and early 20th centuries were characterized by rapid industrialization and the rise of urban centers. The Great Depression of the 1930s was a period of economic hardship, followed by the challenges of World War II. The mid-20th century saw the rise of the civil rights movement and the space race. The late 20th and early 21st centuries have been marked by technological advancements, globalization, and the challenges of the 21st century.

THE HISTORY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON

From its first settlement in 1630 to the present time
The city of Boston was founded by a group of Puritan settlers who sought a place where they could practice their religion in freedom. The city grew rapidly and became one of the most important ports in the colonies. It was the site of many important events in the history of the United States, including the Boston Tea Party and the Battle of Bunker Hill.
The city has a rich cultural heritage and is home to many famous institutions, including Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It is also a major center of commerce and industry in the Northeast.
